Charges American Materials for War Go To Axis Powers

Iowa Senator Demands Investigation of "Flagrant Abuses"

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Declaring he had received reports that American companies had supplied war materials to the axis powers "in scores and scores" of instances, Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) said today he would press for establishment of a joint congressional committee to investigate.

"It is a strange thing," Gillette said, "that we are spending such vast sums to aid one side in the war and that we still allow vital war materials to go to the axis countries. The people are entitled to know the facts about the situation."

The Iowa senator, continuing an interview, asserted that "the most flagrant reported abuses have been in the petroleum industry," and added:

"Motor fuel supplied by United States companies has been leaving Latin American ports for Germany and Italy."

"The Dutch East Indies recently have increased their allocation of petroleum to Japan and this is being refined and transported by British and American companies. West coast shipments of petroleum to Japan have increased tremendously since the first of the year, and the Japanese now are running virtually a ferry service to get it across."

In some instances, Gillette declared, American companies have worked through foreign subsidiaries to send materials to the axis countries or have acted as American agents for German companies.

Royalties to Germany
"We now are paying royalties to Germany on every inch of the special glass used in the manufacture of warplanes," he added. "We also are paying royalties to Germany on a substance used in making airplane wings."

Gillette already has introduced a resolution to create a joint investigating committee composed of five senators and five representatives. Formation of such a group has been approved by the senate commerce committee.

The Iowa senator said he would seek prompt senate action and predicted the inquiry would be approved by both chambers. The investigation would be financed with a $20,000 appropriation and probably would be undertaken in cooperation with justice department studies of connections between American and foreign firms which might affect the national defense program.

Gillette said he understood that the justice department already "has collected a mass of information" on that subject.

$250,000 for Further Work at New Sheridan School Will Be Asked

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—(AP)—An appropriation of $250,000 to continue the development of the new Sheridan, Ill., branch of the St. Charles School for Boys is included in the biennial state welfare department budget bill filed in the legislature.

In the 1939 legislative session $250,000 was appropriated to purchase the site and start construction of the Sheridan unit, designed to house so-called "incorrigibles" from the St. Charles school. One building is soon to be completed and occupied.

The new $250,000 appropriation is listed in the bill as being for "additional buildings, improvements and equipment". The sum is in addition to a total of $3,000,000 which the welfare department bill would provide for buildings and repairs to relieve overcrowded conditions at various state charitable and correctional institutions.

The $3,000,000 building fund could be expended at the discretion of the welfare department with the consent of the governor. Improvements planned were not listed in the appropriation bill.

(Telegraph Special Service)
Galesburg, May 24.—John Cadie, Jr., of Dixon, a freshman at Knox college, was decorated with the crossed rifles with "K" insignia during Military Day observances on the Knox campus this week. The award was given for outstanding work on the rifle team. Cadie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cadie, 212 Ottawa avenue.

Too Serious

Camp Forrest, Tenn., May 24.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's fledgling soldiers are getting into the spirit of the thing, all right, as they train for warfare. An officer explained why opposing forces would not be permitted to come in actual contact in the Cumberland plateau war rehearsal next month:

"After weeks of maneuvers the men got to taking the problems seriously. We let some men charge one another as they would in battle and they just automatically started hitting each other with rifle butts. Some of them were badly hurt."

Approximately 77,000 soldiers will participate in the war games. Blank ammunition will be fired to accustom the trainees to the din of battle. Instead of bombs, airplanes will drop sacks of flour to mark hits, near-hits or misses.

Kane Jury Acquits Former Employee at St. Charles School

Geneva, Ill., May 24.—(AP)—Robert Adams, 32, one of two former house fathers at the St. Charles School for Boys charged with murdering an inmate, was acquitted yesterday by a jury of six men and six women.

The jury deliberated an hour and a half before deciding that Adams was innocent of the murder charge. He and William Laird, 27, were indicted for murder after the death last Feb. 13 of James Williams, 16-year-old Negro from Chicago.

Laird was granted a separate trial. States' Attorney Charles G. Seidel of Kane county said that he was undecided on the prosecution of Laird in view of Adams' acquittal.

Williams died after a hearing administered in a punishment cottage at the institution. Fellow inmates testified that Laird and Adams beat him into unconsciousness with a club and hose nozzle.

Adams pleaded self defense, testifying that he struck Williams after the latter had "kneed" him in the abdomen and had threatened him with a chair. Williams was serving a term for auto theft.

Williams' death prompted Gov. Dwight H. Green to reorganize the school's administrative personnel. More than a score of employees resigned subsequently.

Greek, "Affected by Poetic Madness", Empties Pistol at Italian King's Car

Rome, May 24.—(AP)—A Greek, declared "affected by poetic madness," emptied a pistol at the motor car in which King Vittorio Emanuele was riding with the Albanian premier during the monarch's visit to Albania May 17, official Italian dispatches from Tirana disclosed today. All the shots went wild.

The assailant, whose name was given as Vassal Laci Mihailoff, was arrested, the dispatches said, "and saved from lynching by the people so as not to complicate investigations begun to run down his possible accomplices."

In the motor car with the king-emperor was Sheriff Veriati, who has been premier of Albania since the Italians first invaded that

Accident in Cook Co. is Fatal to Dr. and Mrs. O'Malley

Meet Tragic Death on 30th Anniversary of Their Wedding

Dr. Joseph M. O'Malley and wife of Ohio, Bureau county, were killed last evening in an automobile accident in Cook county, as they were returning to their home after a day's visit in Chicago in celebration of their 30th wedding anniversary. The accident happened about five miles west of Homewood when the O'Malley car and a truck operated by Morris Semons of Chicago, collided.

Mrs. O'Malley was instantly killed and her husband died a short time after at the Oak Forest infirmary. The driver of the truck was reported to be in a critical condition suffering from a skull fracture and other injuries. The tragic accident, according to meager reports, occurred shortly after 5 o'clock while Dr. and Mrs. O'Malley were enroute home from the city where they had enjoyed the day, planning to visit a close friend, Dr. Joseph Coyle before completing their day's outing.

Word of the tragedy was received here last evening when state highway police, who had been called to the scene of the collision, identified the couple and notified relatives in Ohio and Dixon.

Native of Lee County

Dr. O'Malley, who was beloved by all who knew him, was born and raised in Marion township, Lee county, the son of Michael and Mary O'Malley. He was the last of a family of nine children. His early education was received in the rural schools near his parents' home, after which he attended Dixon college. He received his medical education at the St. Louis University and upon completion of his studies, began his practice in Ohio, where he has practiced continuously for the past 30 years.

He enjoyed a wide practice in the vicinity of Ohio and was active in the affairs of that community. He was president of the board of education in Ohio and took an active interest in the affairs of the village.

Mrs. O'Malley was the former Miss Nell Zeek of Amboy, who is survived by one sister, Mrs. Foy Brown of this city. Dr. Joseph Willard O'Malley of LaMoille is the only other survivor of the victims of the tragedy.

The bodies of Dr. and Mrs. O'Malley were removed to the

Convoy Attacked Near Greenland

BULLETIN
Berlin, May 24.—(AP)—The German high command announced tonight that a unit of the German fleet had destroyed a British battle cruiser, probably the huge H. M. S. Hood, in battle with heavy forces of the British navy off Iceland.

Berlin, May 24.—(AP)—German submarines were reported today to have attacked a British convoy in waters near Greenland.

Informed sources said the Greenland attack was the one reported in the high command's communique yesterday which said nine merchant ships totalling 70,000 tons and including three large tankers were sunk as they headed for England.

At that time it was not disclosed where the action took place.

DNE, official German news agency, said that during the U-boat attack one of the ships, a 7,000-ton munitions steamer, tried to dodge from the danger zone and was struck by a torpedo and sank after a succession of tremendous explosions.

Housewife Gives Word, Cabin Comes to Table

Probably the most remarkable table ever used in Illinois was found in a cabin in the southern part of the state during the early 1800s.

According to the Illinois Writers' Project, WPA, the wife of an early settler discovered an unusually large tree stump near the site which had been selected for their cabin. She induced her husband to build the house around it, and then used the stump as the dining table for the family.

Canada and United States Make Plans for Mutual Efforts

Twin Planning Boards Will Be Announced in Coming Week

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—The United States and Canada, it was learned authoritatively today, will establish early next week two closely collaborating economic planning boards to speed the mobilization of American resources for aid to Britain and defense of the western hemisphere.

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King are expected simultaneously to announce the membership of the three-member United States and Canadian boards which will survey the two nations' resources and guide their cooperative economic, industrial and financial policies.

The new boards in general are expected to complement—in the economic and industrial fields—the work of the joint United States-Canadian Defense Board established to coordinate the military and naval defense of North America.

All but one of the members of the new twin boards have been selected, it was learned, and Mr. Roosevelt is expected to decide on the third man on the American board within the next few days. All names have been closely guarded by the White House.

To Take Inventory

The boards, it was learned, will immediately undertake a systematic inventory of the United States' and Canada's present and potential resources, production, manufacturing capacities, supplies, priorities and other vital elements involved in providing the quickest and greatest possible assistance to Great Britain and other nations fighting against aggression, and strengthening the defenses of the American republics.

Acting as a joint board, it was said, they will:

Collaborate in solving economic, industrial and financial problems essential to all-out aid to Britain and to insure the peace and security of the western hemisphere.

Coordinate the interchange of raw materials and manufactured products, and synchronize the production of munitions and planes to achieve maximum production and shipments, without duplication of efforts.

Initiate a long-range study of ways and means to "cushion" the after-effects of the war and minimize the hardships attendant upon shutting down defense industries.

British Naval Blows Against Axis Convoys Help Crete Defenders

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Telegraph Special News Service)
The Battle of Crete is giving us in flaming miniature a view of the essentials of the whole European conflict, and again we have had it emphasized in the destruction of the big axis convoy off the island that the pivot upon which this war is revolving is the British navy.

Had Hitler possessed the sea power to force his way through the British squadron, the struggle for this historic island would have been over, and the five thousand German youth who now lie at the bottom of the ocean would have been drinking to the Nazi victory.

Just so, one year ago, John Bull's warships drove their noses up against the sands of Dunkerque and in that blazing hell snatched away the Nazi victory which bade fair to end the war then and there. And since then it has been the vast cordon of floating steel which the British have thrown about the continent of Europe that has stood between Hitler and his goal.

Of course, there are many other vital elements to consider—the air, for one. It may be that with this mighty aerial arm Hitler will be able to conquer Crete despite his lack of access to the sea.

Still, while the possession of Crete is of great importance, it isn't the open sesame to the control of the eastern Mediterranean. The fact remains that if Herr Hitler wins the war it will be only after he has smashed a hole in the British blockade.

Unless he can overcome that obstacle he cannot claim victory. Not only has it been standing between him and his objectives, but with grim silence it has been cutting him off from oil and other vital supplies without which he cannot carry on war indefinitely.

Germany's might in the air has been clearly demonstrated in the Battle of Crete. Of course, the withdrawal of the Royal Air Force from the fight was due to their lack of air bases near the island, whereas the axis is plentifully supplied with hand airframes.

Still, even had the allies possessed bases, it is far from likely that they would have been able to stand up against the great fleet which Hitler is operating in the battle. Britain hasn't the planes yet to enable her to maintain many planes in the eastern Mediterranean.

Thus the Battle of Crete has developed into a struggle between Hitler's warplanes and John Bull's warships. It provides and intensely interesting spectacle, though I doubt whether the relative merits of these war arms will be demonstrated.

Former Democratic Leader Faces Prison

Chicago, May 24.—(AP)—Sam Orlando, former Democratic precinct captain in the 11th ward, was subject today to a one to 10 year sentence following his conviction on vote fraud charges.

Climaxing his third trial on charges involving irregularities in the 1939 judicial election, Orlando was convicted by a jury last night of aiding, procuring and abetting in vote frauds.

Arguments on a motion for a new trial will be heard by Criminal Court Judge John F. Bolton June 6.

In December, 1939, Orlando and Joseph Vinci were acquitted of charges of conspiracy to violate the election laws. Later Orlando was tried and acquitted on a charge of conspiring to "fix" the jury that freed him.

British Admit Their Situation on Isle "Not So Good"

(By The Associated Press)

British naval blows against axis convoys attempting to carry men and guns to Crete aided the allied defenders today as the battle for the eastern Mediterranean island entered its fifth and, perhaps, climactic day.

What looked like the first prominent German casualty in the battle for Crete was disclosed in today's high command communique, which announced the death of Colonel General Ulrich Grauert, commander of a flying corps, "while leading the fight against England".

The communique, for the fifth straight day, did not mention the air invasion of Crete, but the fact that the Luftwaffe's supreme effort against England just now centers on Crete suggested that he was killed in action there.

Grauert played a leading role in the air campaign against Poland in last year's blitz in the west, and in the subsequent air war over Britain.

The British admitted that some ships carrying German troops might have eluded the sea patrol to reach Crete, but expressed doubt if the troops and equipment they carried could be landed against resistance of shore units.

5,000 Germans Drown

One German convoy has been destroyed by a British naval squadron, the British asserted, in a three-hour attack during which 5,000 Nazi troops drowned on an Italian destroyer, two freighters and 40 small sailing vessels were sunk.

Another convoy attempting to reach the eastern end of Crete from the Italian Dodecanese also was smashed, the British said.

The Italians said their naval and air units had sunk four and damaged three more cruisers of the British eastern Mediterranean fleet in four days of fighting, presumably around Crete.

On the island itself, a furious battle was raging at Malemi airport, near Suda Bay, where Nazi "sky troops" were aided by mortars and artillery perhaps guns as large as 75mm—which were brought in by plane.

The British acknowledged that the situation at Malemi was "not so good" and said a continuing stream of parachute troops could be expected to reach the island. British thrusts had dislodged the Germans from Candia and Retimo, the only other points they had been able to seize. Although the Nazis were getting no help via the sea, planes brought more and more men to the desperate melee, which boiled down to an endless series of hand-to-hand encounters in which villages changed hands a half-dozen times a day.

British Handicapped

The British acknowledged that the defenders were operating under a gigantic handicap because of the lack of air support. The Germans were said to be prodigal with their planes, throwing them steadily into the fight despite the loss of at least 17 big transports thus far.

In Washington, meanwhile, authoritative circles reported the United States and Canada intended to establish next week two closely collaborating economic planning boards to speed the mobilization of American resources for aid to Britain and for defense of the western hemisphere.

On the western front, RAF bombers struck at the city of Cologne, Rhine valley industrial center, and blasted objectives around Boulogne on the Nazi-occupied French coast. The Germans reported raids on airports in central and southern England.

Berlin sources said Nazi U-boats had attacked a British convoy in waters near Greenland. This Danish colony, suggested as a transshipping for Britain, was declared part of the western hemisphere last month by the United States.

WOMAN GETS POSITION

Hillsboro, Ill., May 24.—(AP)—Montgomery county's only woman lawyer, Miss Rosina Bullington, daughter of Judge Josiah T. Bullington of the Fourth Illinois Judicial circuit, will leave for Washington next week to become an assistant attorney in the agricultural adjustment division of the Federal department of agriculture.

SMALL HOMES • STORES • APARTMENTS • MODERNIZATION

by PAUL T. HAAGEN, A.I.A.

Wallpaper Gets New Treatment

Builders report a renewed interest in wallpaper as a finish for walls in new and modernized homes. As a result of technical progress within the industry, a variety of papers are now available to suit any type of interior.

Hard glossy finishes, metallic surfaces, basket weaves, cloth reproductions, wood imitations, and old-fashioned embossed designs are but a few of the styles on the market. Modern architectural styles are responsible for the increasing demand for horizontal and vertical stripe papers and plaids.

Metallic surfaces without formal design are a direct expression of the modern trend. These come in gold, silver, bronze, and aluminum. Among the textile finishes are embossed papers simulating monks cloth, basket weaves, and old-fashioned plasters.

Questions and Answers

Q. Is it possible to make a house which is square or rectangular in shape appear interesting?

A. Achieving an interesting exterior appearance for rectangular shaped houses requires more ingenuity than for those which are L, U, or Z-shaped. Good wall opening arrangements, care in selection of use of materials, and design of minor details are important. Often the use of a well-proportioned porch, a bay window, and an attractive entrance doorway will assist in obtaining an interesting appearance. Well-planned garden walls, fences, and similar accessories can be used to give the house individuality. Attaching the garage to the house is also an effective means of achieving variety. It tends to make the house appear larger by increasing the exterior mass of the house.

house appear larger by increasing the exterior mass of the house.

Q. What is the purpose of a thinner in connection with paint and what are the best kinds?

A. Thinners are used to make the paint spread more easily and the oil penetrate porous surfaces more readily. Its effect is temporary since it evaporates when the paint is used. Generally speaking, thinners should be related to the paint. Paint manufacturers usually recommend the type of thinner to be used with their products.

Q. I like a painted wall having a stippled effect. How can this be obtained?

A. Stippling is done by applying a finish paint coat, mixed a little thicker than usual, which may be lighter, darker, or of the same tone as the under coat. The surface is then stippled by tapping the wet paint with a clean bristle brush. Other finishes may be obtained by using a whisk broom, sponge, or similar tool. Plastic paints may be used when a textured surface is desired.

BUILDING HINTS An Architect's

By PAUL T. HAAGEN, Architect

Re-Roofing Your House

If you need a new roof on your home, be sure to find out if it is necessary to remove the old roofing material and if the roof boards are solid. Then choose a roofing material that will harmonize with the architecture of your house. One good rule is do not select queer, gaudy and freakish looking patterns in an effort to be original. Award the contract to a reliable roofing concern that will guarantee the material to be used and the workmanship. While the roofing is being done, inspect the metal work such as gutters, flashings, valleys and downspouts, they will probably need replacing at certain points.

Heat Loss

The windows in any house are a source of much heat loss. Heat passes through the glass from the inside to the outside. Windows should be weatherstripped to prevent the drafts that leak in around the frame and storm sash should be provided. This is one of the best things to do to save on the loss of heat from the house.

Fireproof Shelves

When cupboards are over the cooking range, a sheet of asbestos should be placed on the underside of the cupboard to prevent overheating of the wood when the cupboard is near the stove.

Convert the Attic

Perhaps you have an attic that is not being used. This may be converted into a playroom with gymnasium equipment or a study or a recreation room. Knotty pine walls give the room a friendly atmosphere and modern insulation provided in the ceiling and walls makes the room comfortable in winter and summer.

If there is no heat in this room, a small gas radiant heater may be installed or a small oil furnace, both of which must of course have a flue connection to the outside.

Refinishing Waxed Floors

If a floor has been waxed and you wish to varnish it should be cleaned carefully with turpentine and gasoline to remove all traces of wax before any other finish is placed upon it. Bare spots or worn spots should be sanded down smooth and restained and filled.

Chimneys

Chimneys are a fire hazard when poorly constructed. Such a chimney may be a source of much trouble in a house. A flue lining should be built into every chimney. This reduces the possibility of fire.

A chimney should not be used as a prop for the house construction and certainly no wood framing should be built into the masonry of the chimney.

Good Construction

Sound construction is a matter of careful attention to the details of building. All foundations are of the utmost importance and properly constructed foundations should have heavy square footings

VERY SMALL

Don't let the large overshadowing tree fool you about the size of this house. It is quite small but the rooms are so planned that they are of ample size where one bedroom only is needed. There are many nice features about the plan. It is compact, with no halls, and there is a rear terrace off the living room.

that bear evenly on the soil which supports the walls.

Good footings should also be under all posts and piers.

If a basement wall shows cracks, there probably has been poor foundation construction.

Plaster Ceiling

By plastering the ceiling of the basement on metal lath, the home owner secures a certain benefit and resistance to the spread of fire from that portion of the house. In addition, it will greatly improve the appearance of the basement and also keep the first floors warmer.

Wall Space
Always plan wall space in the living room for a piano, davenport and desk. Chairs, radio and cabinets should next be considered.

There are more beauty parlors than drug stores and more barber shops than clothing stores in the United States, according to the Bureau of the Census.

Better Homes, Better Living

Additions to the house are usually coincidental with additions to the family.

An extra room for the growing child saves the rest of the house, as well as the mother, from a lot of wear and tear. During winter days particularly, when the children spend long noisy hours in doors, many parents wish they had another room in the house.

Considerable expense will be saved if a new home is originally planned for the addition of another room, which will not only change the living habits of a family but will also have a direct influence on the future of the children.

fluence on the future of the children.

The illustrations show a one bedroom house planned for the addition of a second bedroom.

In its simplest form the one bedroom house makes use of one room for living, dining, and cooking. On the addition of the second bedroom the hall closet becomes a connecting hall for the new room. The expanded plan also suggests variations obtained through enlargement of the living room, separation of the kitchen from the living room, and addition of a porch. The kitchen is large enough for dining.

Home Lumber Offers For Sale Modern Five Room Home

Here's your chance to stop thinking about that money that you pay to your landlord every month, and use it to pay for a home of your own!

HOME LUMBER is offering for sale a new, modern 5-room home for a price below the cost of construction.

Located in the Lincoln Heights, Lot 19, it offers a lot 75x300... over one-half acre of fertile soil... an unusual opportunity for profitable gardening and landscaping.

Some of the features of this home are: A 12x20 garage, full-sized concrete basement, spacious attic with stairway and flooring installed, clear oak flooring throughout, CELOTEX insulation, etc. Two additional rooms could be added on the second floor at a moderate cost.

For further details and description refer to the HOME LUMBER & COAL CO. ad on PAGE 4.

Indications Show Paint Costs to Rise

Because of the lack of raw materials as a result of the defense program, and increased building activity, all indications are that there will be a sharp rise in all paints.

At the present time, HOME LUMBER is maintaining their present policy of lowest possible prices, but expect a forced price increase in their complete line of LUCAS paints.

As a tip to those planning some painting in the near future, HOME LUMBER suggests that they get their paint now, while prices are comparatively low.

To assure yourself of saving, why not call 57 today and get quotations without obligation, or, if you can pay us a visit, drop in and look over the charts of new Spring colors... you're certain to find just the color you want!

KEG O' NAILS

OH—THESE FRESH-MEN!
Frosh: "Yeah, nice frame, too."

I'LL SAY!
Panhandler: "Gotta quarter for a room tonight, mister?"
Painter: "No."

Panhandler: "Gotta dime for a ham sandwich?"
Painter: "No."

Panhandler: "Gotta nickel for a cup of coffee?"
Painter: "No."

Panhandler: "Huh! 'You're in a hell of a fix, ain't cha?'"
Painter: "No."

IF IT WERE ONLY TRUE!
According to Webster—A dumb person is one that can't talk. Wouldn't this be a great world if the dictionary was right?

LOVE AND KISSES!
In the movie house the audience sat spellbound while a thrilling tale of love and romance was unfolded on the screen. One of the high points was a scene where the hero slapped the heroine vigorously on the face and stalked off. In the tense silence following this bit of drama, a child's voice piped up from somewhere in the theatre: "Mama, why doesn't she hit him back like you do?"

Wm. Boehme Home Being Remodeled

William F. Boehme is remodeling his home at 1602 Second street. Max, John and William Hubbell, local contractors, are doing the alterations.

As many other local contractors do, day in and day out, the Hubbells came to HOME LUMBER for building supplies to assure a satisfactory and high quality job.

Louis Pitcher Makes Farm Improvements

Louis Pitcher, 117 East Boyd street, has been making some general improvements on his farms on route No. 2, Dixon.

Among the improvements is the application of Long-Bell Red Cedar Shingles, No. 1 XXXXX on one of the houses. Other work includes the building of a chicken house and a cupola for a barn. HOME LUMBER materials were used in all the construction, and we're certain that he will be satisfied with their lasting qualities.

Troy Reinhart, Eldena contractor, is supervisor of the work.

Net a Word on Hats, But Roofs -- Ask Us

We'd hate to venture an opinion on some of the hats the girls are wearing today and still keep our good standing among the ladies of the community, but we do feel that we're qualified to serve as your home milliner. The new styles, modern, harmonious blends and correct designs of MULE-HIDE ROOFS make it easy for us to recommend the roof that will "show-off" your home to best advantage.

Why not call 57 and ask to see some of our new spring samples? We'll be glad to send a representative to your home, so you can make your choice at your convenience.

Miss Minnihan Becomes Bride This Morning

Miss Wilhelmina M. Minnihan, youngest daughter of the Harry L. Minnihan of 328 Chamberlin street, and Charles L. O'Connor, Jr., only son of the senior C. L. O'Connors of 809 Jackson avenue, exchanged marriage vows this morning in an 8 o'clock nuptial low mass solemnized at St. Anne's Roman Catholic church. The Rev. Father R. L. French performed the ceremony before an altar screened with iris, spirea and peonies.

Miss Jane Slothower was at the organ for the nuptial prelude. She also played the accompaniments for Mrs. John Lahay and John Bennett, soloists.

Miss Margaret Minnihan was her sister's only attendant, and William O'Malley served Mr. O'Connor as best man.

A spray of pale pink roses was pinned to the shoulder of the bride's pale green redingote ensemble. White accessories were chosen for the bridal dress.

Pale pink crepe with white accents and white accessories were worn by Miss Margaret Minnihan, as maid of honor. Johanna Hill roses formed her shoulder corsage.

Following a breakfast at the Minnihan home for the bridal party, Mr. O'Connor and his bride left on a brief wedding trip. They will reside at 622 North Ottawa.

Mrs. O'Connor was graduated from Dixon high school and later attended the Metropolitan business college in Chicago. For several years, she has been employed at the Warner law firm. This morning's bridegroom is employed as bookkeeper with the Confectionery division of the Borden company.

IS GRADUATED AT MICHAEL REESE

Miss Marilyn Atkinson, youngest daughter of Mrs. A. J. Hollenbeck, was among those receiving diplomas with the class of 1941 at Commencement exercises held Thursday for graduates of Michael Reese hospital school of nursing.

Bridge-Dinner Is Farewell Courtesy

Another of the party courtesies which have been making their last few days in Dixon so pleasurable for Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Adams, was the bridge-dinner given last evening in the couples honor by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rosecrans, the H. C. Bartholomews and the A. N. Richardsons.

Dinner reservations were made for 38 at the Coffee House, with contract games following in the ladies' lounge of the Loveland Community House. Bouquets of spring flowers trimmed the party tables.

Score favors at the bridge tables were shared by Mrs. A. H. Lancaster and A. H. Hanneken, who held high scores, Mrs. Arnold Schultz, J. W. Cadie, Mrs. Chester Clausen and Mrs. F. A. Hanson.

There was also a guest gift for Mr. and Mrs. Adams, who are spending the week-end at the Rosecrans home, before leaving Monday or Tuesday for Wisconsin to spend the summer on Lake Muskellunge, near Tomahawk.

DINNER COURTESIES

Mr. and Mrs. James Hobbs entertained at dinner Wednesday evening at Hampshire House, New York, honoring Mrs. Walter Saunders of Chile, South America, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Kelly of New York were recent dinner hosts at the St. Regis hotel, with Mrs. Saunders as their special guest.

Old-Fashioned Charm

One of the prettiest wedding gowns of the season is this charmingly old fashioned model of cotton lace. Long sleeved with a fitted bodice, bouffant skirt and shirred neckline, it is sure to flatter any June bride. A short or a hip-length veil in cotton gauze or tulle or net, held in place by fresh flowers, would be smart with it.

COMPLIMENT TWO BRIDES-TO-BE

Kitchen gifts were presented to two brides-to-be, Miss Emily Swan and Miss Louise Hintz, at another in a series of pre-nuptial compliments these two young women have shared during the past few weeks, when Mrs. Raymond Toot and Mrs. Louis Salzman entertained last evening at the home of the senior Robert Sterlings.

A yellow and white motif was chosen by the hostesses, and wrappings for the gift packages reflected the same colors. Miss Jean Bovey and Miss Hintz were fortunate in the card games.

Gumdrop colonial bouquets were favors at the refreshment tables. Guests numbered 12.

The Rev. Herbert J. Doran, pastor of the Presbyterian church, is expected to return Tuesday evening from St. Louis, Mo., where he has been attending the General Assembly of Presbyterian churches.

Women's Clubs Adjourn Triennial Convention

Atlantic City, N. J., May 24—(AP)—Weary delegates to the General Federation of Women's Clubs hurried homeward or went out to see the sights of this seaside resort today, certain their triennial golden jubilee convention had made club history.

They carried with them the challenge of their new leader, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, to organize "a crusade to preserve our representative form of government, to combat fifth columnists and prepare our country and our people to defend themselves."

In accepting the presidency of the world's largest organization of women, Mrs. Whitehurst said last night at a banquet attended by 3,000 that "women must play very important part in our country's affairs if we are to save it from the fate of France and other countries."

FLUID COUPLING FULLY AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION

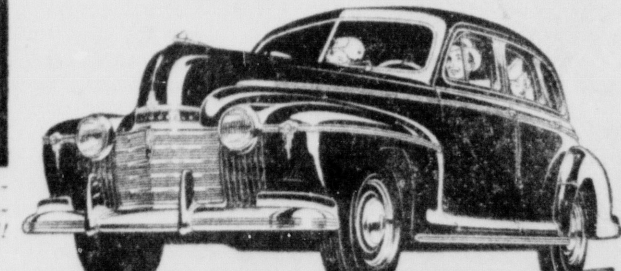

Fluid coupling alone can do much to make driving easier. But it can't eliminate all manual shifting. Only Hydra-Matic is completely automatic. (Prices and Specifications Subject to Change Without Notice.)

Built and backed by General Motors—offered in Oldsmobile

FLUID coupling is just one part of Hydra-Matic Drive. Hydra-Matic includes also a fully automatic four-speed transmission. It's the combination of the two that permits elimination of the clutch pedal and all manual shifting of gears. Both are necessary to give you the stepped-up performance and the completely automatic operation that you get only in Hydra-Matic Drive. Come in and try the one drive that goes all the way to make driving simpler, easier and safer!

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and repudiated by those who suppose that the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

A Thought For Today

And he that killeth any man shall surely be put to death.—Leviticus 24:17.

No place, indeed, should murder sanctuarize.—Hamlet.

Confidence; No Smugness, No Despair

A year has passed since that May 16, 1940, when President Roosevelt called the nation to prepare.

So many conflicting opinions are advanced as to what we have done in response that it seems worthwhile to back off once more and look at the picture. One hears this one say: "We are terrible. The troops are ill-equipped, untrained for modern battle. Strikes have hamstrung our efforts; industry has not co-operated. It's bad." The other says, "We're wonderful! Everything is swell! We are invincible."

We have read a lot of reports, studied a lot of statistics and stories from those who should know. And this we conclude:

The first year of the defense effort has accomplished more than any nation has ever accomplished in a similar period. It is not enough.

There is no reason for despair. There is no reason for smug self-satisfaction. The period of preparation for defense production nears an end. We are beginning to produce.

The effort is uneven. In some fields we have accomplished prodigies. In others, the effort has fallen short, largely because many, both in the ranks of management and labor, do not realize the importance of the job, do not realize that it may be a matter of life and death for the country and the way of life they love.

We might have done more during these last 12 months; certain ill-justified strikes, certain governmental muffs of the ball; certain reluctances of management to get in and pitch; these have held us back.

But there is absolutely no reason to be discouraged or to feel that we are failing.

What is past is past. The year since May 16, 1940, is gone. We have many reasons to be proud of what has been done; no reason whatever for despair.

A second year begins. The pace is faster, faster. Fortunately, people are beginning to buckle down to the task. Even after event shows that the only salvation is in faith and strength.

America shall not lack either. In faith and growing strength, then, forward!

They Never Shall Be Missed

People talk of the post-war world, and wistfully list the things they think it would be nice to have then. Not so many have made lists of the things it would be nice to do without. They are making such lists in England. Ko-Ko, in Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado," made a very famous list once, of the people "who never would be missed." But now Englishmen are doing that again. Here are a few elements which Hamilton Fyfe, well-known British journalist, thinks England could get along without after the war:

"We shall not require, to start with, the Ruling Class which was all powerful up to last May . . ."

"The exaggerated—indeed the nonsensical—respect for titles . . ."

"The disastrous fashions in holding and transferring land . . ."

"The kind of peer whose only public utterance was the statement that he could not manage with fewer than six cars . . ."

"In fact, we shall not want a House of Lords at all . . ."

"Without all the people who proclaim themselves enemies of dictatorship, but who would do their utmost to prevent genuine democracy from functioning . . ."

A Date's a Date—But Is It?

Do you have a date for Memorial Day? A date to decorate graves, to go motoring, picnicking, to play and relax??

No doubt you have. But are you sure which date it is? You may be sure, but the World Calendar Association is not so sure. That's the organization that is working for a new calendar.

For instance, Memorial Day this year is a Friday. That's swell for people who don't have to work Saturday. But for those who have to be at the office Saturday morning—not so good. Next year Memorial Day comes on Saturday. In 1943 it's Sunday, which means that it has to be moved forward to get a real extra holiday. In 1944, it's a Tuesday.

The calendar association says there's no sense to that, and it is working throughout the world for a new calendar to go into effect in 1945, so arranged that holidays would come each year not only on the same day of the month, but on the same day of the week.

Change the calendar? Huh, by 1945 that will probably be the least of the changes.

Reports now are coming in about people getting hit by golf balls. They shouldn't thrust themselves into the fore ground.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, May 23.—The prospect of the Nazis running through Crete and Syria to capture the Suez and the seizing of Gibraltar has been considered realistically in the topmost conferences in and around the White House. Statesmen, as well as people worthy of their blood, cannot afford to read the news like nambypambies avoiding what is displeasing. The odds are strongly against the British in the Mediterranean, though decidedly in their favor in Britain. The question is what do about it.

The White House congressional directors who have been in the front office lately believe Roosevelt will send up a message or stem-side chatlets too hot for firesides) to a stronger reaffirmation of the western hemisphere defense basic policy and action to bolster it.

One piece of action being conversationally talked up in these circles would contemplate further safeguarding the vital island approaches of the Atlantic, not only nearby but all the way across to the African coast. The Azores (Portugal) are within the western hemisphere limits which Roosevelt set in Greenland. The new dividing line cuts through the Cape Verde Islands (Portugal). But eastward between them toward the African coast, are the Madeiras (Portugal) and the Canaries (Spain) which are strategically important as ocean bases.

It is doubtful that any such action would be taken unless the fall of Spain and Portugal seemed at hand. Also the action might await formal American participation in the war.

The British had been conceded a good chance of holding Crete for some months by most of the military authorities here. Their expectation was founded on the concentrate there the 50,000 to 60,000 troops removed from Greece. Instead the British left only a division with the Greeks. The bulk of the British army was transferred to the Libyan front where the Suez defenses were hard pressed.

Signs of the coming shakeup in the defense organization (forecast first in this column May 6) are multiplying rapidly. Criticism of accomplishments is starting even from sources close to the administration. You will hear frequently in congressional quarters the observation that prodding criticism and constant reshuffling must be accelerated if results are to be obtained.

Appointment of some new over-all head, like Jesse Jones, the commerce secretary, is not unlikely.

The house ways and means committee are bristling mad because all the treasury has recommended for an excess profits tax is the same old treasury scheme which congress defeated last year. Some committeemen are trying to get business men to come in and testify en masse as they did last year.

It now looks like there will be a fight lasting several months. Momentary prospects are that a bill will be passed in September, to apply retroactively to January 1.

Years Ago

(From Dixon Telegraph)

YEARS AGO
A cyclonic cloud passed north of Dixon this afternoon, and was observed by many here.

Mayor F. A. Truman today issued his annual Memorial Day proclamation, requesting the suspension of all business on that day.

Reports from Mineral Springs park at Sterling late this afternoon indicated that North Dixon leads in the annual tri-county meet the scores at that time being: North Dixon, 23; Amboy, 20; Dixon, 7; Sterling, 5; Oregon, 5; Morrison, 3.

25 YEARS AGO
The Brown Shoe Co. has announced a $35,000 improvement program to be carried out at their Dixon plant this summer.

Mrs. Charles Eastman was named department president of the Illinois W. R. C. at the convention in Decatur Wednesday.

10 YEARS AGO
Postmaster John E. Moyer was elected president of the Illinois Postmaster's Association at the annual convention in Springfield yesterday.

A. P. Armstrong, Lester Wilhelm and Miss. Freda Johnson of the Dixon National bank are attending the Illinois Bankers' convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago.

J. H. S. Boy Wins Honors

Delmar Breckenridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Breckenridge, 210 South Ninth street, has been chosen as one of the outstanding Safety Patrol members in Ogle county. He will receive an outstanding Service Award as well as a one-week's camping trip beginning July 5, with all expenses paid by the Chicago Motor club.

This recognition of Safety Patrol members has been won by Rochelle Junior High students for the last five years. The former winners have been Charles Linne-meier, David Fell, Donald Schaller, and Dolores Knicely.

J. H. S. Boys' Activities

The spring program of softball and track was completed last Saturday at Mount Morris where all the schools of the county met for a track meet and softball tournament.

Rochelle was represented by 18 boys in the track meet and each boy was able to place high enough in his event to win an award. Each boy was allowed to enter but one event. In the softball tournament, Rochelle was beaten in the championship game after having won games from Monroe Center and Oregon, earlier in the day.

Summer Maintenance Program

The board of education is seriously considering an extensive repair program on the Lincoln building, where walls will be painted, floors refinished, new doors installed, and many other repairs made. The rooms and corridors of the Central school will be painted and a number of other maintenance jobs will be completed during the summer.

CHURCH NEWS

Methodist Church
Rev. John E. Robeson, minister.

We are on the threshold of one calendar — "Memorial Day." On this day we pay tribute to our honored dead, men and women who have distinguished themselves as nation builders or given their lives in defense of their country that freedom might live.

Throughout the country on Memorial Sunday our churches in one form or another, pay tribute to the war heroes of the nation. This we shall do in an appropriate program at our morning worship service.

The American Legion and the Woman's Auxiliary will attend the services in a body.

Sunday school, 10:00 a. m.

Morning worship 11:00 a. m.

This is a memorial service. Address by the pastor, "Lest We Forget."

Attend Church, Sunday

Following a custom of many years, members of the American Legion and Auxiliary will observe next Sunday, May 25th, as Memorial Sunday, attending church services in a body. This year, they will meet at the Methodist church at 10:45 in readiness for the 11 o'clock service by Rev. John E. Robeson, pastor.

Children Receive Communion

Sixteen children of the Catholic church will receive their first Holy Communion Sunday, May 25, at the 7 o'clock mass. The children are: Anthony Herrmann, Allan Herrmann, Robert Finkbner, Justin Henry, Claude Cote, Richard Herrman, James Allen, Francis Sanders, David Henry, Maryanne Cahill, Patricia Lover, James Dettig, Joan Lower, Mary Ann Connolly, Helen O'Brien, and Barbara Ann Durson.

Governor Dedicates Gateway Monument Built by Union Workmen

Lincoln, Ill., May 24.—(AP)—Governor Green said today that the project started by labor union craftsmen to beautify their city by erecting gateway monuments will "serve as a graphic sermon on what can be achieved by the harmony and cooperation of labor and capital."

This corn belt city took on a holiday atmosphere as residents turned out to hear the governor speak at ceremonies dedicating the first of the brick and stone Abraham Lincoln memorials that will stand near state highways that enter the city.

Five hundred union members of the Logan County Building & Construction Trades Council conceived the idea of erecting the gateway monuments as their contribution to the city's beautification program, solicited contributions and performed all of the work of building the memorial.

The gateway monument, bearing a plaque of Abraham Lincoln, that was dedicated today is situated on route 10 at the east entrance to the city. Similar markers will be erected later.

"The memorial gateway which you have erected has attracted the most widespread interest because you have set an example which all might follow," Governor Green said in a prepared address.

"x x x it will stand as a splendid symbol of the unity in citizenship of which the world is in such desperate need today."

Made Honorary Member

"We all must wish that there were more of such unity, so that the ways of peace and prosperity could be assured to all, x x x"

"It is small wonder, indeed, that the story of the highway monument were dismissed for Thursday, Ascension Day."

HOLD EVERYTHING

"You must be one of those army posts I've heard about"

ment at whose foot we stand has reached across the nation to serve as a graphic sermon on what can be achieved by the harmony and cooperation of labor and capital and by the other elements which go to make up our economic and social structure. It is upon such harmony and cooperation that the existence of our national freedom and our form of government by the people depends."

The bricklayers, carpenters, truck drivers and other union men who worked nights and Saturdays building the memorial had charge of the dedication exercises. Wives of union members lined up around the courthouse square to hand roses to the governor's wife as she passed.

The governor was presented with an honorary membership in the Logan County Building & Construction Trades Council.

fire on a darkened ship. This was our first intimation that we were in contact with the enemy. "We altered course, jammed on full speed, and entered the fray. "Our destroyer fire was very effective. A great bonfire appeared on the ocean, apparently a merchantman burning from bow to stern. "The first ship we on this cruiser actually sighted was a large Italian destroyer. It was not until we flashed a searchlight on her that we were certain she was Italian, flying the Italian ensign. "We were at very close range and opened fire with our pom-poms. She then fired torpedoes and, avoiding them, this cruiser was masked by another cruiser. "This other cruiser, however, thus got a clear view of the Italian destroyer and gave her a full broadside of six-inch guns, all of which seemed to hit. "Goes Down Like a Stone "A series of violent explosions occurred and the burning destroyer went down like a stone. Throughout the action she never had fired her own guns. "The Admiral then led the squadron through the middle of the enemy convoy, consisting mainly of sailing caiques intended for a surprise night landing on Crete. We sank a large number of these caiques—at least 40—each carrying at least 100 nazis. We rammed many of them. "In addition, this cruiser sank a small steamer of about 1,000 tons with our heavy guns. We last saw her going down and burning badly. "Some of the caiques tried to evade our attack by hiding the soldiers they were carrying and flying the Greek flag. Others retaliated with rifle and machine-gun fire. "On a subsequent sweep we saw a large number of Germans in the water, clinging to lifeboats and rafts and the wreckage of caiques. The possibility of E-boats (motor torpedo boats) attacking made it impossible for us to stop to try to rescue any of them. "Before 3 a. m. Thursday (the action started after 11 p. m. Wednesday) the action was over; the nazis dead, or the few survivors in scattered flight."

The World Champion Cincinnati Reds have given a tremendous advantage to their pennant rivals in the National League, but with four-fifths of the season still ahead, it is too early to count them out.

They apparently are on the upgrade after striking bottom last week with a six-game losing streak. Since then, they have won five out of six contests and yesterday conquered the Chicago Cubs, 8-4, with a proper show of authority. Johnny Vander Meer and Elmer Riddle combined to pitch four-hit ball.

In the third inning, however, Vandy walked three men and hit another and these gifts, linked with an infield out and an error, permitted Chicago to score three times out.

The Reds popped Claude Passeau for two runs in the first and added four more in the third. They made 10 hits, four of them singles by Ernie Lombardi.

The victory left the Reds a half game out of the first division and 8 1/2 behind the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals.

Cards Clip Bucs
The Cards clipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1, in the first tilt of the year in St. Louis to take a two-game margin over the idle Brooklyn Dodgers.

Mort Cooper pitched five-hit ball, fanned nine and singled in one of the Redbirds' runs.

The Cleveland Indians, leaders in the American League, also opened their night-game schedule by treating 40,000 fans to a 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The encounter was decided in the first inning when Ken Keltner tripled with the bases loaded and Ray Mack singled him home. Al Milnar and Dennis Galehouse each gave five hits and each had spells of wildness.

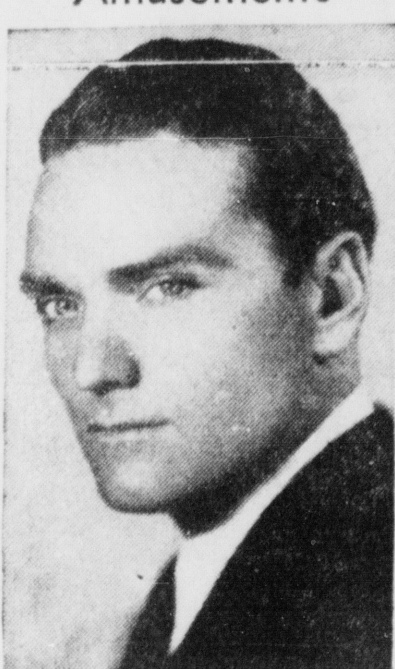

The second-place Chicago White Sox split a doubleheader with the Tigers at Detroit. Old Ted Lyons pitched Chicago to a 7-1 victory in the opener and Paul (Dizzy) Trout retaliated with a 9-0 shut-out on seven-hit hurling.

Fifty million pounds of dry casein made from milk is the annual factory production currently reported by the Census Bureau.

U. S. bakeries annually produce 7,218,843,000 pounds of white pan bread and 1,732,225,000 pounds of whole wheat and rye breads, according to reports to the Census Bureau.

The annual death toll in the United States from leprosy runs around 20, according to the census.

Amusements

"MY SISTER EILEEN" AT CHICAGO

Cecil Smith, dramatic critic of The Chicago Tribune, said of "My Sister Eileen" when it opened at the Harris theatre last February, that it "is just what the Chicago stage needed." And so it has proven to be. Capacity attendance has greeted Max Gordon's production of this merry comedy at every performance since its opening, and it has also been running in New York since last December. The play is based on the amusing stories by Ruth McKenny, by two Hollywood script men, Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov, and was staged by one of the most astute playwrights and directors in the country, George S. Kaufman, who seems to turn out nothing but, emphatic successes for the American theatre, including "You Can't Take It With You" (which ran nearly one year in Chicago), "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "I'd Rather Be Right" and many others.

Ashton Stevens of The Herald-American called it "an enormously funny piece," Robert Pollak of The Times said it is "a carnival of hilarity," George Jean Nathan of Esquire Magazine said "it is damned funny," and Walter Winchell said "it is a honey of a show; you will enjoy every minute." And you will. In the Chicago company is Guy Robertson, who will be remembered as star of successful musicals and dramas, including "The Great Waltz," "Of Mice and Men," etc., and Marcy Wescott, Philip Loeb, Audrey Christie, Effie Altom, John Kearney, famous old time comedian, Merritt Stone, Edith Gresham, Marjorie Dalton, and twenty-five other fun makers. Matinees are Wednesdays and Saturdays, and an extra matinee will be played Decoration Day, Friday, May 30. Mail orders will be promptly filled.

Lure of Gold Led
Many To Turn West

In 1849, when news of the great gold strike in California stirred the whole country into a fever of excitement, many residents of Illinois were bitten by the gold bug. So many of Stephenson county's male population—almost one hundred—journeyed across plains and mountains in search of quick wealth that for a time their going threatened to bring economic hardships to that section of Illinois, says the Illinois Writers' Project, WPA.

An historian of the county noted that "purchase of supplies made business good for a time, but the ultimate effect was bad. The county could ill afford to spare at that date so many vigorous men," he wrote. As a result "smaller crops were cultivated; trade was slow and times were dull."

At least one of these Illinois "forty-niners" struck it rich. He left Stephenson county in 1848 and walked by the side of an ox team almost all the way to California. In 1851, he returned by stage, with his "stake."

There was a reduction of more than 200,000 share croppers in the U. S. in the past decade, according to the 1940 census—from 776,278 to 541,291.

Since 1938, Oregon has been the nation's biggest lumber-producing state taking the lead from Washington which had ranked at the top since 1905, according to the census.

Two rare yellowed trees on the Joe Roe lawn in Grand Detour are in full blossom and are attracting much attention. The trees, native to Alabama, are masses of white and are very beautiful. There are few of these trees in the northern climate.

At Postmasters' Dinner—
Postmaster George Fruin, Assistant Postmaster George J. Smith and Superintendent of Mails Vernon Schrock and their wives were guests of the Ogle County Postmasters' Assn. at a dinner meeting held at the Edgewood Country club, Polo, Wednesday evening.

Pawn shops numbering 1,373 reported a year's total for sales of second-hand articles of $22,868,000 in the last census.

American railroads added more streamlined trains in 1940 than in any other year.

Mississippi has more than twice as many share croppers as any other state, according to the 1940 census. The number is 125,483 compared with 135,293 ten years earlier.

City of Rochelle
Named Defendant
in Damage Action
Suit Filed in Oregon
Friday Afternoon One of Three

The law firm of Dixon, Devine, Bracken & Dixon of this city yesterday afternoon filed a $5,000 damage action against the city of Rochelle in Ogle county Circuit court at Oregon in behalf of Leroy Drummond and Bernice Drummond, both of Rochelle, who live on property adjacent to the city's stone quarry.

The complaint charges that since June 1, 1940, the city has been using dynamite to blast the rocks from the ground, which has caused damage to their home and land.

The city is charged with using excessive amounts of explosive, which caused their home to shake violently, breaking windows, twisting the roof and cracking the walls. They charge the blasting has caused rocks to be thrown on their premises and the dust has ruined the crops and fruits on the property.

Other Suits Started
Dr. Lamertus Warmolts of Oregon filed a $150 civil suit in Ogle Circuit court against Thornton Cartage company, in which he alleges the company has failed to pay for his services to one of its employees. Dr. Warmolts charges that the company agreed to pay him for professional services and hospital care in the case of its employee. Attorney K. Gerard, Oregon, represents the plaintiff.

W. Walter Maxey, Ogle county real estate broker, has filed a $1,500 civil suit in Ogle Circuit court against the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Maxey charges that on July 8, 1940, the insurance company listed for sale with the plaintiff a certain farm southwest of Polo. The plaintiff charges he obtained a buyer for the farm which was sold for $34,000. Maxey claims that because of such listing, the company is liable to him for his fee of $1,500, plus interest.

Attorneys Robert M. Besse and Kennard J. Besse of Sterling are counsel for the plaintiff.

Numerous Bills
Affecting Sports
Before Assembly

All Sportsmen of Ogle and Lee Counties Are Interested

Hunters and fishermen in Lee and adjoining counties are watching with interest the progress of pending legislation in Springfield, and sportsmen's organizations are strongly opposed to some of the measures which have been introduced in the legislature.

Representative O'Neill is the sponsor of a bill which will close the northern zone of the state to quail hunters until the season of 1946. The bill has been referred to the committee on fish and game.

Representative Kosinski is the sponsor of another measure which is meeting with opposition from many sources. The bill provides that every person owning a firearm in the state of Illinois shall register the same before Jan. 1, 1941 with the State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation and from this source receive a title thereto.

Representative Holten has introduced a measure which provides that no dealer be permitted to display a deadly weapon which can be seen from the exterior of the building. Another clause in the same bill requires any individual possessing a firearm to secure a permit from the circuit clerk of the county in which he resides, a charge of 50 cents to be made for the permit on which the serial number of the weapon must appear. This bill has been referred to the judiciary committee.

Senator Connors has a bill, which has been referred to the senate judiciary committee requiring the registration by owners of firearms and the issuance by the county clerk of a permit to the registrant, for which no fee is to be charged. The proposed legislation does not apply to manufacturers or dealers in firearms or collectors of antique firearms.

Senator Clyde Lea has introduced proposed legislation in the senate which is now on file with the committee on forestry and fish and game, which is intended to protect albino squirrels. The measure provides that no white albino squirrels shall be trapped or killed by any means at any time.

Will Teach in Leaf River
Prof Evans Kinsley has accepted the position of principal and coach of the Leaf River high school. Supt. Leland Hanson is superintendent of the school. Mr. Hanson is a former teacher in the local high school. Mrs. Kinsley has taught here for several years. He and his wife have been a great help in the various social activities and of the church of the Brethren. It will be with sincere regret from their friends that they will leave this community.

Former Resident Dies
Word was received here Tuesday morning of the death of Edward Zoeller at the Methodist hospital in Peoria, after an illness of several weeks' duration. Edward was born in Franklin Grove, April 21, 1879, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zoeller. He was united in marriage June 26, 1906 to Miss Emma Hammarstrom of Dixon, who survives, together with one son, Lt. W. F. Shell, Jr., of Rodondo Beach, Cal.; two sisters, Mrs. Lena Asp of Peoria, with whom he had lived since going to Peoria five years ago; and Mrs. Louise Mattern of Franklin Grove; three brothers—Louis of Franklin Grove; Charles of San Diego, Calif.; and Harry of Coldwater, Mich.; and one grandson.

Funeral services were held at the Wilton mortuary in Peoria at 12 o'clock noon, Thursday. The body was brought to Dixon for burial in Oakwood cemetery with Masonic services at the graveside. Mr. Zoeller was a member of Friendship lodge No. 7, A. F. & A. M. of Dixon.

Home for Vacation
Miss Orthello Johnson of Washington, D. C. is enjoying a two weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Johnson, Sr. of south of town. Miss Johnson is employed as a stenographer in the United States Senate building and does special work for the Illinois Senators, Hon. Scott Lucas and Hon. C. Wayland Brooks. Guests over Saturday night at the Johnson home were: Jay Johnson, Jr., William Mertz and George Elliott, students at Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston. Mr. Mertz preached at the Methodist church in Cherry Valley on Sunday.

Supper at the Pines
A group of young people from the Franklin Grove and Ashton Methodist churches went to the Pines Sunday where they enjoyed a picnic supper and held their Epworth League services out of doors. The Rev. and Mrs. Dreger, Nevada Tate, Jackie Canode, Marion Stillwell, Janet Howard, Janet Watson and Ted Phillips of this place joined with the Ashton group.

Birthday Dinner

Relatives gathered Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pitzer and daughter of Oregon on route No. 3. Mrs. Pitzer planned a complete surprise on Mr. Pitzer, a reminding him of his birthday. A lovely picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon. Those present were: Mrs. Etta Pitzer, Elberta and Edna Benodt and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pitzer of Franklin Grove, Mr. and Mrs. George Pitzer and family, Mrs. Ankeny, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Pitzer and family—all of Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hodge and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Hodge, all of Milledgeville, and George Pitzer of New York. At a late hour all left for their homes wishing Mr. Pitzer many more happy birthdays.

To Be Married

Frank C. Holley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holley of Urbana and Miss Florence Blekking, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Blekking of Grand Rapids, Michigan will be married in the First Presbyterian church of Grand Rapids, Michigan June 7.

Both of these young folks are well known here, they having attended the local high school and have many friends here who wish for them all the good things of life.

Frank is employed by the Eastman Kodak Company in Rochester, New York. Florence will graduate from the Calvin college in Grand Rapids the latter part of this month.

Completely Surprised

The Tuxis of the Presbyterian church planned to and successfully surprised the Rev. and Mrs. Louis Grafton at the manse in Ashton Tuesday evening. Diversion for the evening included a wiener roast in the Graftons' lovely back yard. Over twenty young folks were present to enjoy the evening. The young people presented Rev. and Mrs. Grafton with a large chromium meat platter.

School Notes

School Briefs

The third annual all-school luncheon was voted a great success by the student body. About 115 attended including the new freshmen. Mr. Pickering, county superintendent of Ogle county schools, gave a short but worthwhile talk on the qualities that lead to success. The grade school girls ably served the luncheon and a very efficient committee of mothers supervised the kitchen. The committee consisted of Mrs. Burkhenn, Mrs. Lucy Ives, Mrs. R. W. Smith, Mrs. Charles Howard, Mrs. Pyse, Mrs. Ruth Kelley and Mrs. Ralph Canode.

Saturday at 10 a. m. the Route 72 Conference track meet will start. The meet is at Rochelle. The Franklin team is a dark horse, and should score heavily in the field events as well as the distance runs. Several new records are in prospect.

The woods department had over sixty projects on display at the hobby show. The visitors showed great interest in the modern furniture. Several of the pieces on exhibit will be placed on sale next week.

Brethren Church Notes

Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. The subject, "Overcoming Prejudices," found in Acts 11:5-17. Memorial Day services at 10:30. The pastor will speak on "The Call to the Heights." Music by the choir. Since the evening is baccalaureate night, there will be no services at the church.

This Saturday, May 24, there will be a quarterly business meeting at 8:00 o'clock.

The Daily Vacation Bible school will begin June 2. We hope that every parent will try to make it possible that their children can go. There is something vital in the religious training of the child that nothing else can do for them. Life is more than meat. The building of character is life's most vital factor and should mean more than the day school. If you are interested in the community help the Bible school.

Mother-Daughter Banquet
Seventy-two ladies attended the Mother and Daughter banquet Monday evening at guests of the Compton Woman's club. Eight beautifully decorated tables greeted their eyes as they marched from the auditorium of the church to the basement. The dinner was served by the Women's Society of Christian Service. The menu was:

Taste thrill cocktail, ham, whipped potatoes, peas, spring salad, tea biscuits, May cake, coffee and mints.

After dinner was served Helen Beemer, club president, conducted the business meeting. The minutes of the April meeting were read and approved and also the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Gladys Bunting announced that Dee Thompson was the winner of the Book in the Time Quiz contest. The book that she chose was Abingdon's Bible Commentary. In the essay contest, "After the War—What?" she announced that Marjorie Chaon was the winner from the Compton school and Verna Lindenmeyer was the winner from the West Brooklyn school.

Mrs. Beemer then announced that Dee Thompson as president of the 13th district will broadcast greetings to all clubs from station WROK, Rockford, May 27 at 3 o'clock. Let us all remember to tune in at this time. Faye Richardson, delegate to the 13th district convention, held at Lena gave her report and Helen Pool delegate to the state convention at Chicago also gave her report. All of the new officers for the next year were introduced. These were as follows: President, Helen Beemer, vice president, Dorothy Carnahan, secretary-treasurer, Ruth Ogilvie, American Home; Margaret Carnahan, Public Welfare; Irma Archer, Citizenship; Gladys Bunting, Fine Arts; Maxine Gilmore, Membership; Helen Pool, Publicity; Mary K. Wolf, Book Club, Zelda Swope.

Mrs. Beemer then introduced the program chairman, Maxine Gilmore. She presented corsages to the oldest mother and the youngest mother present. The ladies receiving these honors were Clara Fairchild, being the oldest mother and Muriel Jacobs the youngest mother. The welcome to mothers was read by Margaret Carnahan.

The presentation to mothers was next presented by the following ladies: The first stage was infancy. This stage was presented by Mary Kutter and baby daughter Barbara Ann, Brahms' Cradle Song was sung by Ruth Ogilvie, Faye Richardson, Alta Cook and Gladys Bunting. Elizabeth Richardson was the accompanist. These ladies sang for all the mothers.

Playmates was presented by Virginia Ogilvie and Charlene Johnson.

School Days was presented by Mary Wolfe.

Let Me Call You Sweetheart by Frieda Zimmerman and Marcella Rhoads.

Mother, acted by Mabel Cook.

Little Old Lady, by Cora Beemer.

Memories was the last number on the program. The entire group sang the chorus of this song, after which all were dismissed.

After the War—What?
Essay submitted by Marjorie Chaon:

Short-lived peace? Eternal peace or more war?

Those are the thoughts uppermost in our mind today.

My first thought is of the people that will be left homeless and starving.

For all we know we may be in the same status. Personally I think that all the people that want war should go to one corner of the world and fight it out for themselves, with no help from anyone else. Perhaps this would solve the problem of war. But as war now exists we have to pay the consequences.

In the first place as soon as one war is over, someone else has to do something and start it all over again. Why? Because some people can't be satisfied with what they have but always want to get something more. War, to my way of thinking, is bred by those who are greedy for wealth and power. Too many feel that being the "head-man" is the most important thing in life. Many people are starving now and I wonder what per cent will be after the war is over. People can't receive the nourishing food they need and have to eat something they're not used to. A few weeks ago in the paper, mention was made of people in Germany who were eating dog food. Well, that certainly isn't food that people are used to. After the war many people will have died because of a shortage of the right kind of food. Even after the great loss of people, many will be in hospitals. Many will be crippled for life, blind, and some never to lead normal lives again.

If some of the people who want war in order to be fighting all the time, or so their factories can go into operation, had children who would be eligible for doing the "real" fighting, (not captains or colonels), there would be less demand for it.

After the war, many countries will owe other countries and before long they will be fighting over the debt. After so long a time some people will think that the other country should pay the debt and soon will say she isn't have to. Just some more reasons for entering war.

As always, many people will be out of jobs when war has ceased. Men will come home expecting to get their jobs back but they will find that someone has filled the position. Unemployment is an aftermath and soon those unemployed will resort to crime as the only way out.

People will be homeless and the government or some other source will have to establish homes for them. Reconstruction is another result. We all know that only bad results can be had from war. We know that wars breed wars, yet periodically war breaks out and "After the war, what?"

Essay submitted by Verna Lindenmeyer:

Great Britain will be the winner. Canada will no longer have relationships with the United States, but will she remain a friend? Business will be slowed down, because millions of people will be looking for jobs. We will be trying to create the unity which we so desperately need. The war debt we will have, will amount to billions of dollars, because so many millions have been used for national defense. We are heavily in debt, knowing that no moves have been made to reduce expenses. We'll have to begin building up our economy if we ever intend to get some of our expenses paid. A billion dollars are paid to the government employees in one year. No matter what the outcome of the European war, certain conditions will exist. Briefly these conditions are: A Europe desperately in need of food and clothing, but without money to buy them; an America that will be the richest and most prized market in the world, and without a surplus of products that Europe will need. Our prices will remain low. Farmers know that those who come back from the war still must have food and clothing. This is the farmer's job. Farmers, after the war, will generally see what has happened to American agriculture. It will take time for them, however, to grasp fully what the loss of exports really means in terms of individual farms. It will also take time for them to consolidate the gains that are possible as a result of increased payrolls and wider industrial employment in defense efforts. Farmers will have their own serious adjustments to make.

There are some solutions, the first of which may be an effort to reduce the tariff on American-manufactured goods—to get the industrial price level down to the farm price level. Another solution may consist of plans which involve storing the surplus commodities to get them off the market. The United States will still remain the greatest nation in the world. First, because its land is rich. Second, because its people have done more with the land than any other nation. Third, and most important, because they are a free people.

No matter what the outcome may be, we must have faith in our lives.

Camp Life

(By The Associated Press)

Camp Shelby, Miss.—Only one kind of drill bothers a muscular, 200 pound private in the 37th division.

He was ordered to visit the dentist. He went four times, but the doctor hasn't seen the inside of his mouth yet. On each occasion the big fellow settled himself in the chair—and fainted.

Camp Stewart, Ga. — Major General William H. Wilson told this one on himself. While stationed at another post, he decided to fix his car, donned dungarees and crawled under the auto. Only his feet were visible when a soldier approached. This dialogue ensued:

"Working on the old man's car, eh?"
"Yes."
"Gettin' paid extra?"
"No."
"How long you been in the army?"
"About 30 years."
"You a non-commissioned officer?"
"No."
"Hm-m-m-m. You must be pretty dumb."

And, providentially, the trooper walked off before the officer could get a look at him.

Camp Forrest, Tenn. — James W. Sergeant of Chicago was a corporal in the 131st infantry. His mates, enjoying a rib like all army men do, unfailingly took care to address him as "Corporal Sergeant."

But he was promoted this week and now the boys are having a field day with "Yes, sir, Sergeant Sergeant."

The sparrow is the costliest alien that North America ever admitted.
